

Ex-countian killed in Bluffs crash

Philip Dressen, 41, Omaha, was killed about 1:20 a.m., Friday in a near-head-on collision on Highway 275 just east of the South Omaha Bridge, police said.

Dressen was dead on arrival at Jennie Edmundson

Hospital. A passenger in his car, Pamela Niemann, 22 of Winter, S.D. was listed in good condition at the hospital. She is under treatment and observation for a head injury.

Donovan W.E. Boner, 1221 Twenty-first Ave., was scheduled to appear in Magistrate Court on charges of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence and driving on a revoked license in connection with the fatal crash. Police Chief Ed Dinovo said other charges against Boner are also possible. Boner escaped from a security holding room in the court house and was still at large Friday night.

Police said Boner was westbound and Dressen eastbound when the Boner car apparently crossed the center line and struck the Dressen car about 70 feet east of the bridge.

Dinovo said Dressen's death was the third Council Bluffs traffic fatality in 1979.
