

Westphalia woman's spouse killed Friday

Sept. 3
1979

WESTPHALIA — Army Westphalia, was 31. Having met SSG Robert W. Robinson, son-in-law of the Peter Gubbelses of Westphalia, was killed Friday in an accident while on military base at Bamberg, Germany.

The victim's mother-in-law said that, according to information received, Robinson was training another soldier "in some sort of military vehicle. The trainee lost control and the vehicle rolled."

Robinson, married to the former Gwen Gubbels of Westphalia, was 31. Having met while in the service, the couple had been married seven years. Mrs Robinson also formerly served in the military.

The Shelby county relatives probably won't be informed of the details of the funeral services "until the early part of next week," Mrs Gubbels said Friday evening.

She was uncertain whether the services would be held here, as Robinson originally hailed from California.
