

Walter Weiss, 79

Walter Weiss of Stillwater, Okla., employed by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service in Harlan in the 1940's, died June 16 at a Stillwater hospital.

Weiss, 79, held the title of "work unit conservationist" during his stint in Harlan — the title equivalent to the district conservationist level of today.

He retired in 1969, serving from 1954-'69 as head conservationist at Council Bluffs for seven counties. He moved from Council Bluffs to Bentonville, Ark., and had most recently been a resident at a retirement home in Stillwater.

WEISS, Walter
death notice

Harlan Iowa Tribune
Wed morn June 23, 1982