David Wager of Richlands, NC, a 1977 graduate of Shelby-Tennant High School, died Nov. 20 at the age of 58. David was the son of Bill and Nelda Wager, and was remembered at a memorial service Jan. 23 in the Shelby United Lutheran Church. The family met with relatives and friends in the Shelby Community Building following the service. David's wife, Cindy, could not attend for health reasons. Among those in town for the service were David's son, Josh and Katie Robertson and Joshua II of Dallas, TX; David's sisters, Dawna and Rick Childers of Council Bluffs and Debra Wager of Harlan; their brother, Doug Wager of Shelby; Dawna and Rick's children, Christie Childers of Austin, TX, and Gregory and Kim Childers, Stephan, Randy, and Savannah of Greeley, CO; Nelda's nephews, Clark and Janet Williams and Ron and Jan Williams, all of Hastings, NE; Ron and Jan's two grandchildren of Omaha; Nelda's cousins, David and Sondra Gaddis of Gaylord, KS, and Diana Freitag of Superior, NE; Bill's cousin, Zelma Stevens and her friend of Beatrice, NE; and Bill's nieces, Elaine and Ed Muggy; Laura and Michael Stueck; and Myrna Drowing, all of Lincoln. The out-of-town relatives stayed in motels in Shelby and Avoca, and all visited in Bill and Nelda's home before leaving town Sunday morning.
