Dear Mother: I received your letter of the 22. I wish you wouldn't swear me about something I don't do. I haven't fallen for any of the women or girls. Every-time I eat dinner in town is because I'm invited to. I can refuse if you want me to. I can just turn my back on all of them if that would make you feel better. Its not my fault because they like me. I could be like the rest of the boys and that would soon put a stop to my invitations out. Everyone here at the camp thinks I am O.K. and I respect their thoughts. They won't come my way & I can't go theirs. Some have said that I sure rate in that town. That's the whole thing. So I guess that's all I can say.

I didn't mean to be ungrateful but but if you don't trust me just say so.

I get to where I feel bad enough with out you raking me for something like that. I sure miss home and I want to get back. I'm not quitting writing to you.
I got to go back to Bator Range for a blood type this pm. So I better stop now and say good bye, to my best friend on earth, Love to you & bobby,
